

How to find Washington State DEATH RECORDS

Washington State Library

Who has the records?

Death certificates from July 1, 1907 to three months before the present day are held by the Washington Department of Health. www.doh.wa.gov/EHSPHL/CHS/cert.htm

For recent death certificates from the last three months, contact the local health department where the death occurred. www.doh.wa.gov/EHSPHL/CHS/issuing_co.htm

Anyone can request a copy of a Washington State death certificate from the Department of Health. You do not need to prove a family connection.

What records are there before 1907?

The counties were responsible for collecting death records before July 1, 1907, which was the day that the state took over.

Most counties kept death registers, where each death was 'registered' by entering it into a ledger. Some counties also had death returns, which were single sheets of paper filled out for each deceased person, whose family came to register the death. Unfortunately, some people did not register the deaths in their family with the county, and there are no records for them.

The county death registers have been microfilmed, and are available at the Washington State Library. They have also been scanned and are available on ancestry.com.

All of the death records, and indexes in our collection are listed in our online catalog. www.sos.wa.gov/library/catalog.aspx

If you find a title that you would like us to search for a specific name, you can submit a lookup request on our Ask-A-Librarian page. www.sos.wa.gov/library/ask_form.aspx

Washington State Archives

The Archives holds the originals of many of the death registers and returns. They will be held at one of the 5 Archives branches around the state. Check out the map to locate the correct branch for your county. www.sos.wa.gov/archives/search.aspx

Washington State Archives has begun to digitize the death records in their collections, and the records that have been digitized can be viewed for free on the Washington State Digital Archives web site. www.digitalarchives.wa.gov/Collections.aspx#RSID:4
